

Feast of St. Francis & Virtual Blessing of the Animals Sunday, October 4th

The Good News is we will have Blessings of the Animals this year on Sunday, October 4th--the Feast of St. Francis; the bad news (in some ways) is that YES it will be virtual. However, to put as positive a spin on it as possible--there will be no dog and cat fights; there will be no messes to pick up; and we will not be at the mercy of any weather events...you may think of some positive things that I have forgotten.

Another positive is that since your beloved fur babies (or feathered babies) won't be present we will incorporate the Blessing in to our Sunday morning YouTube worship service. To this end, you are invited to submit a picture of your precious pet to be incorporated in to the YouTube video. The cut off for sending in your picture is next Thursday, October 1st. You should send them directly to Heather Rampton (heather.gracechoir@gmail.com) in scanned form. In order not to overwhelm we ask that you on submit one picture per household. That is if you have multiple pets, please send only one group shot. You may also be in the picture if you choose. Please also list the names of each of your buddies. We will show the pictures during the service and an animal blessing will be offered for all those represented.
